What is a Direct Cremation?

At Susan Whymark Funeral Service it is our aim to provide a high quality of service and to make sure each and every one of our clients has the funeral they want at a reasonable cost.

A Direct Cremation means the deceased is taken to the crematorium with no service.

The costings in the Direct Cremation are kept to a minimum not because there is less care and attention involved but because aspects associated with a traditional funeral are removed, which in turn involves less time and materials.

If the wishes of the deceased or their families indicate they do not want or need a traditional funeral service a Direct Cremation is the perfect option.

Sometimes large families can find it hard to gather everyone together for a traditional funeral to take place and opt for a Direct Cremation and hold a gathering at a place of their choice at a later date.

In this leaflet we aim to clearly identify exactly what the Direct Cremation does and does not include.
